

USB A to USB C Cable with Locking Mechanism. This cable is designed for secure data transfer and charging between USB A and USB C devices. It features a durable black braided cable and a locking mechanism on the USB C connector to prevent accidental disconnection. The cable is coiled for easy storage and portability.

