

Product Feature:

The 4 Pin LEMO Male to DC5525 Male Medical Cable is a precision-engineered, medical-grade interconnect solution ideal for powering and linking critical diagnostic and therapeutic equipment. Designed and produced by an experienced OEM/ODM medical cable manufacturer, this cable combines durability, electrical safety, and low signal interference.

Our design team can tailor the cable to meet your exact requirements—including custom pin configurations, shielding layers, jacket materials, cable lengths, and strain relief solutions. The LEMO connector ensures a secure, quick-connect/disconnect function that minimizes wear during frequent use, while the DC5525 barrel plug provides universal compatibility with many medical-grade power adapters.

In addition, our similar style Lemo 2Pin Connector With ECG Snap Cable is also widely used in medical equipment, especially for electrocardiogram (ECG) monitoring equipment.

Choose us for reliable, compliant, and customizable medical cables built to support your product innovation and ensure patient safety.
